In our lives, the college experience was just one of many

Building Blocks

■ 1991- the decade of the nineties had begun. There were debates over war, abortion, and foreign relations. We learned to confront these issues and to remain true to our convictions. We were constantly searching for ways to better ourselves and the world in which we live. It was through our actions, our attitudes and our education that we began building the blocks to the future.

Being outdoors, meeting people and having a good time were all part of

Building Character

In spite of our high academic standards, we still managed to find time for partying, socializing, braving the outdoors, keeping in shape, and just plain having fun. We wanted to be known as being strong socially as well as academically, because our social interactions were just as important to us as our education. No matter what activity we chose to participate in outside the classroom, getting out and enjoying friendships and nature was truly building character.

Trying to unload all of our junk in a few hours leads to...

Frantic Unpacking

Coming back to CC after the long summer break conjured up many different images for each student. For seniors, it was the last time they would move in, their last room inventory, and their last Kappa Sigma Beach Party! For first-year students, it was a time of change - new roommates, new classes, new responsibilities.

The . year started gradually with groups filtering in one by one. First came the R.A.'s and athletic teams, followed by S.O.S. members and first-year students. One of the highlights of the week was the stellar Choices 101 performance. Upperclass students performed skits that dealt with topics such as racism, the environment, and date rape. The orientation week came to a close with the traditional New Student Games. Finally the upperclass students arrived on campus to a flurry of frantic unpacking. Sunday was mostly spent recovering from Saturday night hangovers and/or trying to remember how to read, study, and use WordPerfect. On Monday morning first-year and upperclass students officially began the school year. The coming back was over - we were here. Whether for the first or last time, it was a time that would not be forgotten because the memories will live on forever.

Learning to appreciate the beauty of nature, students find themselves enjoying many

Outdoor Activities

In addition to spending time being studious, students took advantage of their beautiful surroundings by spending time outdoors.

Students scattered about campus participating in everything from impromptu games of frisbee and hacky sack to organized sports such as flag football and field hockey.

Sue Lay and Erika Niedowski, two "disk flippers" often found outside Slocum Hall, were heard exclaiming, "We're getting really good at it now!" every time they headed outdoors for fun in the sun.

Added to the plethora of on-campus sports, students enjoyed getting together off-campus for biking, hiking, and climbing. When classes got frustrating, beginning climber Karin Sipman said these things "give me a sense of accomplishment."

Whatever game or sport a student preferred, being outdoors was a relaxing, mind clearing activity enjoyed by all. Jennifer Coombs summed up the whole idea by saying, "Being outside makes me feel free and happy."

Free time spent outside, relieving stress and building friendships ensured a retreat from the block plan stress.

After an intense block, there's nothing better than

Finally! We survived first block and had four and a half days to do whatever we wanted. It was generally agreed on the one of the best things about the block plan was Block Break.

First-year students had the option of participating in FOOT (Freshman Outdoor Orientation Trips) sponsored by the Leisure program. The various trips offered ranged from mountain biking, backpacking and camping to working on a farm.

"My FOOTrip was great! We went to Colony Lakes. We got naked and jumped in a very cold lake!" said Jeff Schmidt.

Others went to Lake Powell, home or vaca-tioned with friends.

"My friends and I went camping in New Mexico. It gave me time to be alone and make a lot of important decisions in my life," said Todd Frisbie.

For those that did stay on campus, the beautiful fall weather led to a relaxing, enjoyable block break. Whatever way we spent our block breaks, they were a time to rest and recuperate with the people and environment that we enjoyed

The spirit and excitement felt during Homecoming lead to

Fall Sparkle

Did you ever wonder why in October the food started to taste a little better and everything seemed to sparkle a little more? Yes, Homecoming once again summoned alumni and family, along with excitement from students. This combination never ceased to bring with it a weekend filled with spirit and excitement.

In an attempt to foster enthusiasm among classes, the Student Alumni Association sponsored class competitions on Friday at noon. The classes competed against each other in a tug-o-war, a shoe scramble, and a van jam. In the end, the highly spirited seniors proved themselves victorious. For their valiant efforts, they were awarded a party complete with pizza, beer, and a band.

In order to intensify the already roaring spirit, a bonfire wrapped up Friday's activities.

Events included spirited cheering, several failed attempts at the wave, and the burning of a St. Mary's Cavalier to motivate teams and fans for the upcoming games.

Senior Peter Horovitz commented with disappointment, "I was kind of bummed that more of the teams didn't show up." Horovitz also felt that "the cheerleaders were hotter than the fire, and if there would have been more of a turn out, it would have been a great bonfire."

The closing of the weekend brought all students back to reality. As the alumni and parents began to return home, the spirit died down and everything returned to normal. We all knew that this feeling would not return again for another year.

Homecoming allows Tiger athletes to be a Sporting Success

Sporting events during Homecoming weekend were always a big attraction. This year was no different. They gave parents, students, and Alumni several opportunities to cheer on the Tigers.

Friday evening, a volleyball game between the Tigers and the DU Pioneers kicked off the weekend's events. Unfortunately, the tigers were unable to defeat the Pioneers. C.C. lost in straight sets.

Saturday's activities began bright and early with the annual Tiger Classic 5K race. Other morning events included men's and women's cross country meets. Both the men's and women's teams placed 2nd in their invitationals.

The number of dedicated fans who gave up precious sleep to support the runners grew immensely for the football and soccer games which filled the afternoon. The women's soccer team beat William and Mary, 1 to 0, and the men's team followed by clobbering

Friends University with a score of 6 to 1. Disappointingly, the football team could not top off the afternoon with another victory. St. Mary's of the Plains dominated the Tigers and won with a score of 26-6. Starting quarterback Jonathan Beal concluded, "I think we could've won if it weren't for a couple of key plays that didn't go as planned." On a more positive note, Freshman Josh Vitt admitted, "We were all impressed by the crowd. It was almost as big as my home town."

Overall, the Tiger teams were successful in all of their endeavors. Regardless of the outcomes, the teams helped unite the student body in a unique way that doesn't happen very often. Homecoming 1991 was definitely a time to be remembered by all.

Dance the Night Away

A fancy hotel, cocktails and semi-formal clothing were some of the prime elements of the 1991 Homecoming Dance. Held at the Broadmoor Hotel, the dance was attended by students, parents and alumni.

The dance was held in three different ballrooms, each with a different band. Tom Ross and the Tailgate Six, a jazz band, entertained the crowd with the smooth sounds of artists like Wynton Marsalis. Jeff Montera, who danced to the Frank Fanelli Orchestra said, "The big band entertained the widest variety of people; students, parents and alumni, and we all had a fun time learning the dance steps." However, most students seemed to spend most of their time dancing to the music of the Royals, a rock band.

Shuttle buses were provided for students to ride to and from the dance at regular intervals throughout the night. Students utilized this service because of its convenience and safety. John Holecek said of the evening, "the buses were a little crowded, but the playground (by the lake) was nice."

Overall, everyone enjoyed the night. "It wasn't at all what I expected," said Robin Havens. "I thought I'd get there and then turn around and get right back on the shuttle. But I ended up having a great time!"

Second and third block found students

Rushing to Go Greek

"If I had to tell another person where I'm from or what class I had this block, I thought I'd scream!" Caroline Bruce said after attending numerous parties at each sorority house during Rush.

Sorority rush took place during second block break and consisted of five days of constant activity, which included skits and dances. This year over one hundred women participated in Rush and attended such parties as West Side Story at Delta Gamma, Crescent Club at Gamma Phi Beta, Grease at Kappa Alpha Theta, and Cosmic Kappa at Kappa Kappa Gamma.

During third block, fraternity rush was filled with food and activities.

The Kappa Sigmas had their annual barbeque with more ribs than we thought anyone could eat, while the Phi Delta Thetas were even more casual with pizza and cigars.

"Although the numbers were down, I think this year Rush was very successful in that the number of people who got bids was very close to the number of people who pledged," said Intra-Fraternity President John Carranza.

"Although Rush requires tremendous effort on the part of the sororities, and fraternities, it is a rewarding experience overall and a wonderful opportunity to meet new people," said Gamma Phi social chair Elizabeth Ortiz.

Students celebrating the season prepare to head
Home for the Holidays

Colorful lights were shining in the trees in Armstrong quad, as well as in the bell on top of Cutler Hall. Worner Center had a decorated tree by the fireplace and a menorah in the window. Christmas carols could be heard from dorm windows, and students were running around in excitement. It could mean only one thing: the holiday season was here!

Volunteer Action celebrated by throwing a party for their little friends in Worner Center. After games and food, the kids were given presents which included games and books.

The CC Choir and soloists performed a winter concert in Shove Chapel on December 7, which included pieces by Hadyn and Stravinsky.

For many students, the holidays meant going home for the first time since classes began. For first-years, it was an exciting and long-awaited trip, but for senior Laurel Schierholz it was just another trip home. "Going home for the last time as a student really was pretty uneventful," said Schierholz.

But whether they enjoyed their trip home or not, the main point was that they had a break from classes.

You came to college. Your studies occupied all of your free time, right? WRONG! So what did C.C. students do for entertainment? Well, watching T.V., going to or renting movies, going out to dinner, and exploring our state all seemed to be popular activities. Many chose to get off campus as often as possible, even if it was just to Denver. And what outdoorsy C.C. student could resist the short drive to their favorite ski resort or camping area? Another activity that the over 21 crowd was eager to try was gambling at Cripple Creek. Combined with the old standby, partying, there seemed to be many options to keep C.C. students having fun all year.

Healthy living

As we progressed into the decade of the nineties, our attitude at C.C. was much like that of our changing society, if not more liberal. With the outbreak of the AIDS epidemic, Americans learned to watch out for themselves. Safe sex, if not pure abstinence, became necessary to guarantee a healthy life. With the concern of health came better eating habits and more exercise. Television advertising drifted away from sexual overtones, to concentrating on health, home, and family. We could no longer ignore such serious illnesses as AIDS, heart disease, and cancer. Instead, we attempted to improve our lifestyles in order to avoid these diseases.

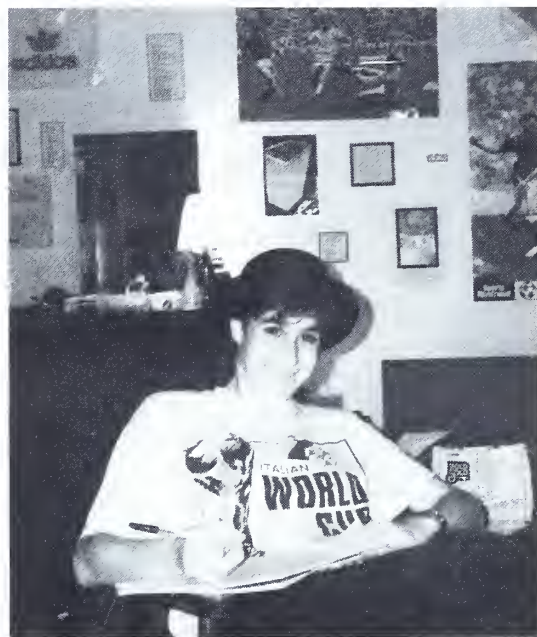

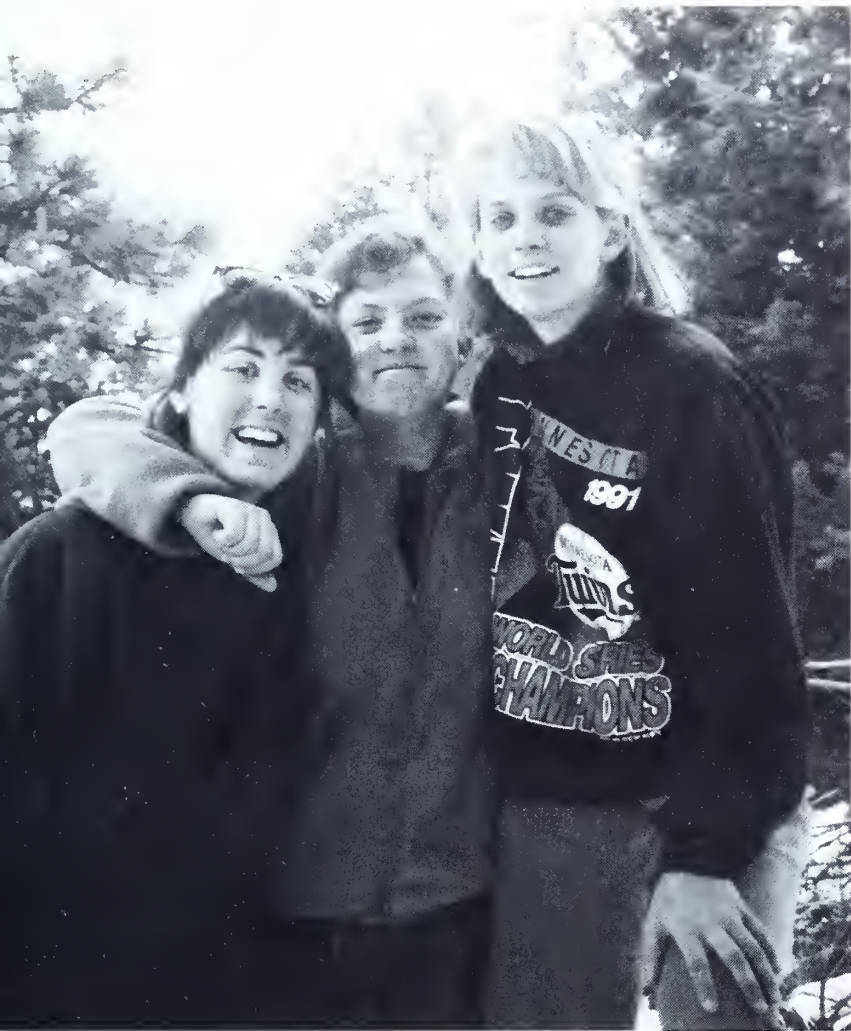

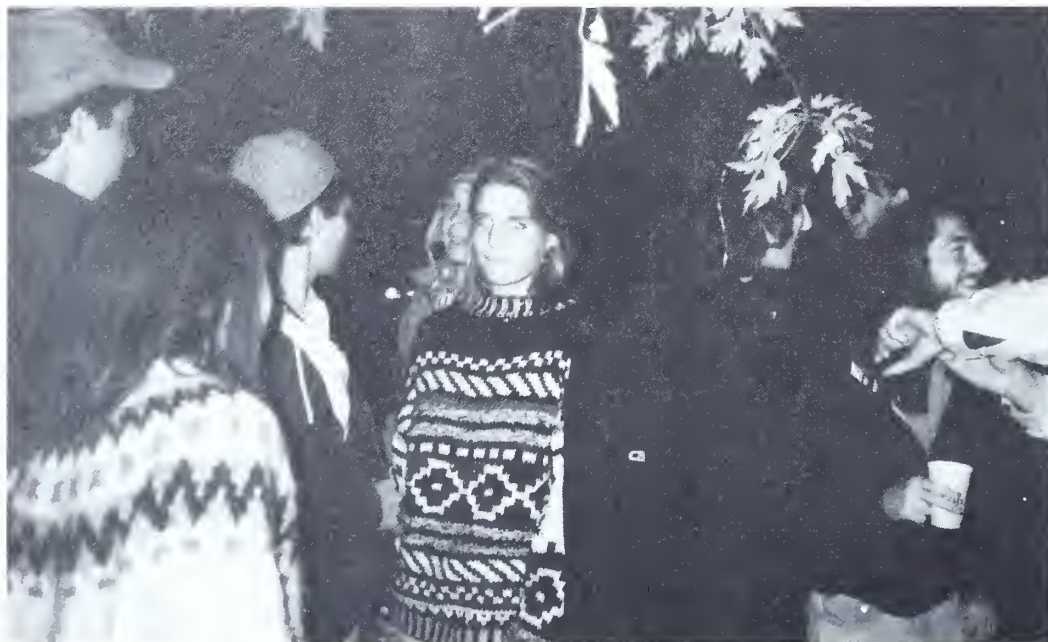

Learning about ourselves and about others was important for

Building Friendships

Where else but CC could you find such a diverse group of students? We came from all fifty states and many foreign countries, bringing with us our own ideas and perspectives. As we interacted with each other, we learned to open our minds as well as our hearts to our fellow students. We made friends that would last a lifetime, and memories that would never die. We realized the importance of building friendships.

Cross-Country

"November We Stammer"

Led by camp counselor Joel "Streak" Trachtenberg, the 11th annual pre-season camp sparked off the 1991 Men's Cross Country season. After testing their might against worthy opponent and legendary coach Ted Castañeda, the team proceeded to the Adams State Invitational in Alamosa, CO. While CC fell short of the furious pace set by the Adams State Harriers, Chris Flood led eight-time National Cross Country champion Pat Porter through a rigorous post-race warm down.

Next, the Tigers scored a first-ever victory at the University of Colorado. Following this triumph, CC gained an edge over Regional contenders Nebraska-Wesleyan at the Concordia Invitational in Seward, Nebraska. The following week, senior Patrick Judge claimed his first Collegiate title at the Colorado College home invite, although USC edged out CC for first place. In the season's final encounter with USC, CC heartily trounced them.

At the Southwestern Invitational in Winfield, KS, the Tigers posted nine personal records. Only one obstacle remained in the road to Nationals -- Regionals. From the start, the Tigers had a legitimate shot at qualifying for Nationals. Their bodies knew when to peak, unfortunately they got the date wrong, thanks to a failure in intra-Regional communication. So CC's rendezvous with glory was postponed, but "Der Käseschneider ist gefallen!"

The season produced sixteen lettermen, with special recognition awarded to Sean Cavanagh and Anderson (Most Improved Award), Doug Gross (Rookie Award), and Judge (Most Valuable Runner Award). Junior Jim Macken also deserves commendation for his 17th place finish at the Regional meet, as does sophomore Mark Sweet for running second for the team in five races. Finally, due to their virtue alone, Dave Furneaux, Kris O'Connor, Phill Trevino, Jerry Giacinto, Richard Heermance, Mark DeOrsay, and Sean Hehn must be recognized as cornerstones in a tradition of excellence that will carry the team into the future.

Coach Castañeda and the members of the team also offer a "tip of the hat" to graduating senior Co-Captains Anderson and Judge, as well as Doug Lansky and Nick Zandstra, current "Big Ugly" record holder (51 seconds). While these men will surely be missed, Captains Brian Kates and Jim Macken will lead the 1992 Cross Country squad in its relentless pursuit of a top-10 National placing.

Tiger Football

Gaining Experience

The Tigers finished the season a disappointing 3 and 6. Head coach Craig Rundle led CC to victories over Pomona-Pitzer (17-13), Tabor College (52-0), and Trinity Univ. (21-14). Despite not achieving their goal of a winning season, the players gained valuable experience in second year coach Rundle's aggressive style of football, and did well in the face of adversity, battling a tough schedule and many injuries in order to play competitively throughout the season.

"We entered every game feeling that we could win, and that feeling was there all year," said senior Chad Wright.

An experienced group of upperclassmen and a talented freshmen class jelled together using teamwork and a close sense of camaraderie. The senior class of Ryun Mendoza, Steve Mottrom, Wright, and Alan Luzietti provided the team with leadership. Mendoza and Luzietti, along with teammates R.J. Gallardo and Chuck Jones, were voted team captains. The combination of upperclass experience and freshmen enthusiasm was a key element for the Tigers.

The offense was led by quarterback Larry Britton. Britton would often look to receivers Nick Mystrom, who had over 560 yards receiving, including a 154 yard performance against Pomona, and Trevor Shettron, who set a school record for yards receiving in a single game with 166 against Trinity Univ., as well as catching five touchdowns. CC's passing game was complemented by a much improved running game, behind an offensive line led by Luzietti, center, and Wright, guard. Tailback Motram was the team's leading rusher. He gained 468 yards, including 138 yards against Tabor College, in route to finding the endzone seven times. Strong offensive play was also turned in by running backs Jones and John Lutz. Throughout the season, the offense played consistently and took advantage of its opportunities.

The defense relied on the solid play of linebackers Mendoza and Gallardo, the teams leading tackler. Todd Mays, defensive end, led the team in quarterback sacks. Keith Mottrom was the standout in the Tiger secondary, grabbing five interceptions.

Four years of football at CC have left the seniors with many great memories and lasting friendships. "It was being a part of a group that was really close," says Luzietti. "I know I have made some lifelong friendships."

Tiger Volleyball

A Growing Year

"It was a development year in the fact that we had a good time and we learned a lot," said first-year Mieko Imai.

The Lady Tigers began their season with a loss to Colorado Christian University with scores of 9-15, 6-15, 15-8, 6-15. Not letting this defeat taint their determination, the lady tigers came back with three consecutive wins. However, the rest of the season proved to be disappointing, with an overall win/lose home record of 5-6 and an on the road record of 3-12.

Spirits remained high for junior Jen Gregory. "[Our season] was good in the fact that it was a learning year. A lot of the girls got to know each other. And that will help us next year in communication, playing styles, and just getting along with one another," said Gregory.

Co-captain Laura Ramos was also optimistic. "Overall,

[our season] was a big learning experience for everyone. We lost two seniors this year, so in the beginning it was frustrating, but everyone benefited. And that will help us in the future," said Ramos.

Coach Jaquie Medina remained optimistic about the future as well—"1991 was a growing year for the C.C women's volleyball program. We had many valuable learning experiences which will provide depth and strength for a more successful program in the future," said Medina.

Next year, volleyball fans can look forward to a more mature and experienced team. But in the mean time, first-year student Elisa Meier expressed a rather matter-of-fact opinion about the season when she said, "It was fun, it was hard work, pre-season sucked, but it was worth it."

The Honor Council is a student-run body which administers the Honor System, whose purpose is to help recognize each student's maturity and individual ability. Accordingly, the Honor System provides an atmosphere of mutual trust which contributes students' mutual growth and academic development. The spirit of the Honor System is intended to provide a foundation for a personal ethical code which will continue long after graduation from The Colorado College.

Sign Language Club

The Sign Language Club has the purpose of promoting Sign Language in the Colorado College Community. To accomplish this goal, the club provided opportunities to learn and to improve Sign Language skills and to interact with members of the Deaf community. The club had two weekly activities:

Sign Language Club brought together people learning sign language, from CC and the community, with Deaf speakers of sign language, including Jim Capp from CC, in an evening of silent conversation and fun.

American Sign Language Class was a beginner class open to all CC students, faculty, and staff. It was taught by a native speaker of ASL, Jeanette Scheppach.

Of course I couldn't get us all together at once to take a group picture, but here are some candids we scrounged up at the last minute!

From the Editor:

Well, here it is - your 1992 yearbook! It was a trying year, and a few times I think some doubted it would ever get done. It took a little longer than expected, but I hope you will enjoy it and find that it was worth the wait.

My staff and I tried to cover as many events, people and groups as we possibly could, but it was difficult. I apologise to those of you who feel you or your organization did not get the coverage you deserve. All I can say is that those who are covered were very cooperative in providing the pictures and/or information we requested. It certainly made our job easier, and in fact, possible.

I also apologise for parts of the sports section. We lost almost all of our articles when our computers crashed and did not have time to redo them.

I'd like to thank my invaluable staff. You were great! You certainly put up with more than you should have - my disorganization, my massive mood swings, and my absent-mindedness! Inge - I don't know what I would have done without you. Thank you for spending so many hours in the darkroom developing pictures two or three times because I kept losing them. Nina - your support (not to mention your camera) helped me survive deadlines. And I promise next year I won't walk back from Cossitt by myself at three in the morning! Caroline, you're the best typesetter I know! Thanks for helping me out of some serious jams. Jenni, thanks for doing all the mailings and finding out the names of practically every resident of Mathias, Slocum and Loomis! Becky, Jenny and Katie - thank you for being consistent contributors! Your work was great and always on time! Erin - thanks for the help on Aldus Freehand and all my other computer problems! Congratulations to the editors of the other publications. You all did excellent jobs! It was fun working with you. Thanks for your encouragement, and for putting up with my messy desk and scattered papers all over the office! Much appreciation to the Catalyst for the use of some photos, and to everyone else who contributed to the production of this book - writers, photographers, etc. And finally, thanks Peter, for never giving up on me and, I hope, never regretting giving the job to a first year!

It was a great experience and I'm looking forward to next year!
